WINDSOR, ON– Today WAVE Whole-Body Advanced Vibration Exercise announced the launch of their new online store [url:http://buy.WAVExercise.com]. All four of WAVE's vibration exercise machines, plus a full line of accessories and promotional materials are available for purchase online. WAVE prides itself on being the leader in the Vibration Exercise market, building the highest quality fitness equipment in North America.

Now purchasing a WAVE vibration exercise machine or WAVE accessory is only one click away. The website is easy to navigate with their simple shopping cart process. The new online store gives shoppers 24/7 access. Free shipping is provided to residents of Canada and the United States, excluding Hawaii and Alaska. "Our clients are always looking to get more accessories once they use the WAVE. The online store allows them the convenience of ordering quickly and securely" said Dr. Jasper Sidhu, Vice President.

The movement of a WAVE vibration platform simulates the body's natural stretch reflex through involuntary muscle contractions - similar to the knee jerk reaction that occurs when the knee is tapped by a reflex hammer in a doctor's office. This strong involuntary muscle contraction, combined with a frequency of up to 50 contractions per second, can produce up to 3,000 muscle contractions in one minute. Vibration exercise targets more muscles than conventional exercise – nearly 100 per cent using WAVE versus 40 per cent with conventional exercise. Using more muscles with higher repetitions than conventional training can provide you with results for your whole body in only 15 minutes.
